

ABSTRACT

A central processing unit (CPU) that has a die on one side and a radiator mounting onto the side of the CPU where the die is located includes a protection wall surrounding the die. The protection wall prevents the radiator from directly hitting the 5 CPU during mounting thereby protects the CPU from being damaged and facilitates installation of the radiator.